

LAGOS LOGIC

RUNNING ADS TO A LEAKING PAGE IS FETCHING WATER WITH A BASKET.

Agoro Hassan

@hassanconverts

LAGOS LOGIC · 04

You pour. It pours out.

More ads. More reach. Same empty class.

Then the verdict: "Ads don't work in Nigeria."

THE NUMBERS

Same traffic. Very different results.

Across industries, the median landing page turns 2.35 percent of visitors into leads or buyers.

The top quarter turn 5.31 percent or more.

WordStream data, reported by LanderLab (2026)

SAME 1,000 VISITORS

Same ad money. More than double the result.

MEDIAN PAGE

1,000 visitors × 2.35% = about 23

TOP QUARTER PAGE

1,000 visitors × 5.31% = about 53

The difference isn't the ad. It's the basket.

WHERE THE WATER LEAKS OUT

The 5 holes in the basket

Message: they can't tell it's for them.

Trust: they can't tell you're real.

Friction: they can't pay easily.

Follow up: nobody reminds them.

Measurement: you can't see which ad works.

Agoro Hassan
@hassanconverts

LAGOS LOGIC · 04

QUICK TEST

If 100 people clicked your ad today, how many would pay?

If you can't answer, that's hole number 5.

Agoro Hassan
@hassanconverts

LAGOS LOGIC · 04

THE ORDER

Patch the basket.
Then fetch.

Fix the biggest hole first. Then spend.

Every hole you patch makes every naira of ads work harder.

Agoro Hassan
@hassanconverts

LAGOS LOGIC · 04

FIND YOUR BIGGEST HOLE

Take the free 5 minute Leak Check.

Comment

LEAK

Send this to a coach about to raise the ad budget.

