

FOR COACHES AND COURSE CREATORS RUNNING ADS

YOUR ADS ARE NOT THE PROBLEM.

Your danfo door is jammed.

PICTURE THIS

Oshodi. 6pm. Everybody wants to go home.

The conductor is shouting "Oshodi! Oshodi!"

The bus stop is full. People are ready.

But the door is jammed.

So what does the conductor do?

He shouts louder.

That's what raising your ad budget is.

Paying more money to shout at people who still can't get in.

More budget. More clicks.

Same empty cohort.

BEFORE YOU BUY MORE FUEL

Ad money is fuel.
Fuel is expensive.

Every funnel is a danfo.

Before you spend one more naira on ads,
check the 5 places your passengers fall off.

Swipe. Count your leaks.

01

LEAK MESSAGE

ON THE ROAD

The conductor shouts “Enter! Enter!” but never says where the bus is going.

IN YOUR BUSINESS

Your ad says “Transform your life in 90 days.”
Nobody can tell if this bus is for them.

Shout the destination: who it is for, what they get.

02

LEAK TRUST

ON THE ROAD

The bus looks like one chance.

IN YOUR BUSINESS

No face. No student results. Just “life changing” and a countdown timer. Nobody enters a bus they don’t trust.

Show proof before you ask for money.

03

LEAK
FRICTION

ON THE ROAD

The door is jammed.

IN YOUR BUSINESS

"DM for details." A 12 question form. A payment link that fails on phones. They wanted to enter. You made it hard.

Every extra step = one passenger walking to the next bus.

04

LEAK
FOLLOW UP

ON THE ROAD

The passenger said "Wait, make I buy gala." The bus zoomed off.

IN YOUR BUSINESS

"Let me check my account." "I'll join the next cohort." Then you never messaged again.

"I'll get back to you" is not a no.

05

LEAK
MEASUREMENT

ON THE ROAD

The driver doesn't know which route pays.

IN YOUR BUSINESS

You ran five ads. You can't say which one brought your students. So you keep paying for the empty route.

Ask every buyer: where did you hear about us?
